And crossing each other from a million different centers of energy and daring, those ripples build a current that can sweep down the mightiest walls of oppression and resistance. Few are willing to brave the disapproval of their fellows, the censure of their colleagues, the wrath of their society. Moral courage is a rarer commodity than bravery in battle or great intelligence. Yet it is the one essential vital quality for those who seek to change a world that yields most painfully to change.

There is discrimination in this world and slavery

and slaughter

and starvation.

Governments repress their people.

Millions are trapped in poverty,

while the nation grows rich and wealth is lavished on armaments everywhere.

Surely this bond of common faith,
this bond of common goals,

can begin to teach us something

Like it or not, we live in times of danger and uncertainty.
But they are also more open to the creative energy of men than any other time in history.
All of us will ultimately be judged and as the years pass,
we will surely judge ourselves, on the effort we have contributed to building a new world society.

Few will have the greatness
to bend history itself,
but each of us can work
to change a small portion of events, and in the total of all those acts will be written
the history of this generation

The answer is to rely on youth, not a time of life but a state of mind,
a temper of the will, a quality of imagination,
a predominance of courage over timidity,
of the appetite for adventure over the love of ease.

FR. ROBERT HEALY
Principal

Frenetic student activity halts abruptly at the office counter, seemingly dammed up by the presence of the administration. But calm atmosphere of blue and white office walls belies the inner dynamism of three men who plot the direction of the school year there.

An administrator's room dominates the school as a quiet haven or the scene of turbulent confrontation for any student problem. Together these rooms are the magnet that patterns daily fragments of student and faculty existence. As firm and permanent as their goals, the administration remains the guiding force at St. Francis.

A smile large enough to cover two jobs at our school belongs to Fr. Barkenquest, Treasurer. The syncopation of a treasurer's adding machine is an appropriate background to the work of Fr. Barkenquest, who is also the head of the mathematics department.

The title new, the role familiar, only a powerful personality could maintain the necessary spirit of order and discipline which is a cornerstone of the learning process. Some students have become acquainted with the "Dean of Men," Fr. Marran, in his office; the impression was lasting. Doubling roles as Assistant Principal since last year, Fr. Marran's administrative duties allow just enough time for him to show his talent in the classroom. Besides promoting a wider appreciation of theology, after school he can be equally at home with theatrics.

But the only bearer of a triple crown of duties has been Fr. Healy. Taking on the chores of "disciplinarian" and Assistant Principal at various times, he remains the man behind the title of Principal. His agile and far-sighted judgment is characteristic of an administrative veteran. From the summit, he is the spark of united student spirit, a salve for daily frictions, imagination and reason in our academic futures, and the model of accomplishment for every Knight of St. Francis de Sales.

Assemblies Provide Constructive Diversion

Exuberant Freshmen join in sports rally.

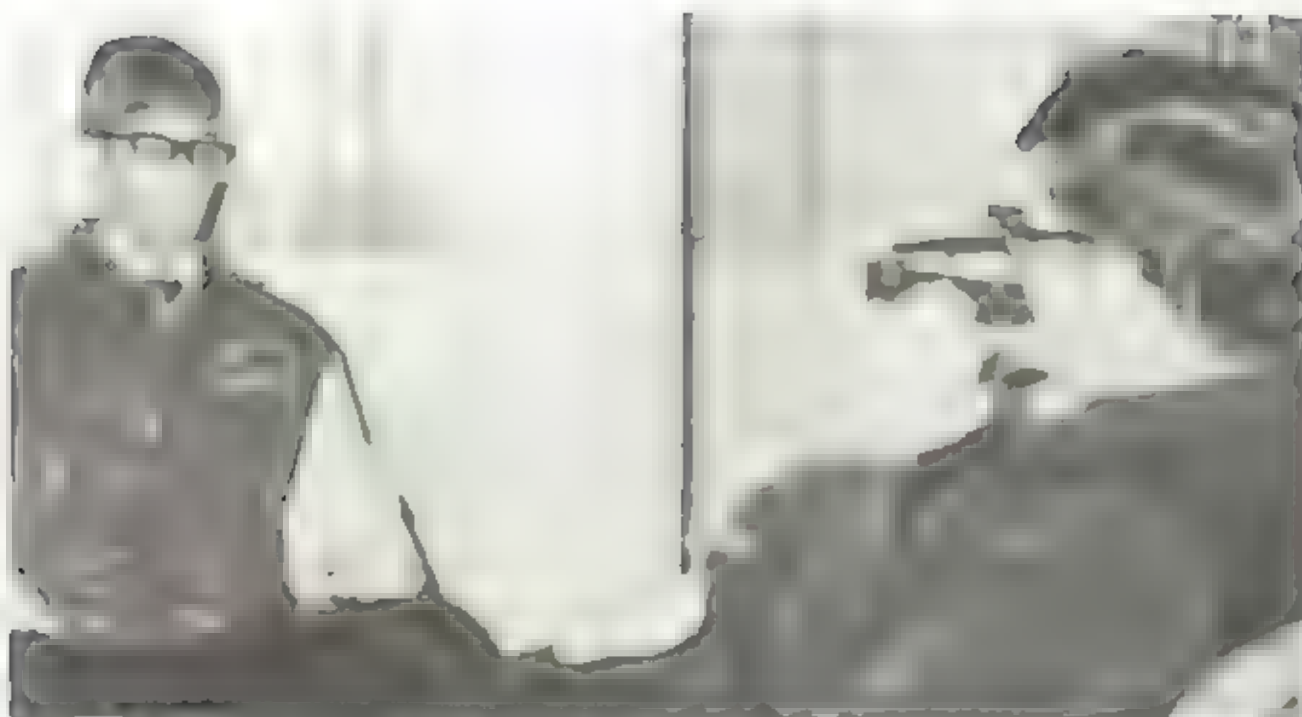

When the news of an assembly comes over the public address system, every class prepares for the up-coming fun. One uproar of unified cheers can carry our group spirit to our teams, whether the cheers are those of winning confidence or a new determination to win. Costumes flash and a rhythmic beat from the Toledo University's band rocks our bleachers. When all eyes were fixed on the dancing girls, no one noticed the time go by. A more serious and proud student body stood to applaud the National Merit semi-finalists. Parents on stage joined in. Awe-struck freshmen watched foam appear in a Coke bottle and some clasped their ears from the noise of a jet engine used to demonstrate the wonders of modern science. Whatever the reason given for the assembly, the distraction from classes makes any assembly the memorable end of a day.

Early some Saturday in February, Fr. McLernan beams at anxious eighth graders to restore at least a nervous smile; then the entrance exam starts. Testing is a familiar "ordeal" for every Knight, but even more familiar to the Guidance Department. Complementing the testing, scheduling, and interviewing of Fr. McLernan, Fr. McMennamin swims through the paperwork of our prospective college students. His informal but informative trips to nearby or eastern campuses require the organization of a tourist agency. The personality of Fr. Russell, third member of the department, makes his office a comfortable spot to talk over personal problems or discuss a possible vocation.

Our math program continues to advance with this year's freshmen mathematics, a program for studying more, faster. The "new math" operations now familiar to the freshmen still surprise seniors at moments. Whether it's preparations for advanced college courses, or a short cut in related subjects such as chemistry or physics, mathematics is a necessity for an educated graduate.

Evolution From the Past

Social Institutions Revitalized

A dictionary-thick history book poses the challenge of present and future against our knowledge of the past. A "cut and dried" fact of the Revolutionary War era is not frozen between yellowing pages but spans the gap to a modern day problem, and perhaps echoes an answer.

Everyday questions of economics are more familiar than the rise and fall of Dow Jones; but with curiosity ending in scrutiny, even the mysteries of Wall Street can be deciphered. Our political science course will never sterilize questions about our perennial institutions. Because until the answers of today materialize, the will may hesitate to preserve a more perfect union.

The Scientific Method Brings Order

Experimentation Stimulates Ingenuity

In the four room block comprising the east end of the school's first floor a startling metamorphosis takes place. Room nine shelters scores of larva like freshmen who are slowly transformed into students somewhat knowledgeable in the ways and means of science. Under the admonitions of Fr. Komorowski, the freshmen acquire a solid foundation in basic knowledge and laboratory procedure.

By sophomore year the newly formed students are implementing the knowledge gained during the preceding year by repeating experiments. Under the direction of Fr. Landgraff and Mr. Sevenich sophomores are learning the value of scientific method by drawing conclusions from the exercises performed during class.

In the final stage of development the upper-classmen use their three years insight to advance them in their chosen field. Their interests may range from classes in physics conducted by Frs. Navarre and McEran, to a course in cosmology and anthropology under Fr. Mosset, or Fr. Ebenhoeh's chemistry class and Fr. Landgraff's advanced biology course.

Fr. Fisher elaborates on an interesting digression in Senior English

When a freshman conquers basic grammar and elementary points about literature, he can look ahead to some of the classics in the language. Julius Caesar will be stabbed by Brutus, in the junior year Hester will bear a Scarlet Letter; and in the senior year, Hamlet will debate Claudius' death. Beyond literature, the nation's and the world's work depends on language, accurate language.

Language is a uniquely human possession in which he must express his emotions, his strongest beliefs and highest ideals. Language can inform or deceive. By senior year, a Knight finds that it is as descriptive and interpretive as a Mona Lisa, as moving as a symphony, and as heaven bent as a cathedral

Languages: Communication Shrinks Globe

Students Acquire Different Points of View in Complex World

Every noun ending takes its place in a series, a cadence familiar to all first year Latin students and steady enough when repeated to be the marching beat of Caesar's army. Taken to the fourth year, a student holds the key to another world, a language big enough to express the former grandeur of Western civilization.

In Annecy, France, our exchange students welcome the help that two years of prior training provided. All students abroad are part tourists, including our German exchange students. Language and living are side by side in a foreign country, and once the language has been mastered it provides a different point of view in today's complex world. With communication satellites in orbit, tomorrow's economic and cultural challenges around the world will be met by students who are studying our "foreign" languages today.

Congratulations go to Dave Suter for his accomplishments as "standard bearer" in Fr. Sottek's Latin "legion."

Advance Classes Prepare Many for Rigorous College Demands

The smell of burning chemicals floating through the first floor corridors may be the only sign of life from the advanced chemistry course. Tubes, assorted bottles and yellow clouds almost conceal the care and activity in every experiment for Fr. Ebenhoeh's lab sessions. Hand in hand goes Fr. Landgraff's advanced biology course with its various experiments and probings into natural phenomena for future college credit.

At the other end of the academic spectrum are the disciplines of mathematics and languages. Fr. Barkenquest's pre-calculus course offers to capable students the most valuable preparation possible for college mathematics. Mrs. Stelter's "fifth year" French course is open to a select few; only the previous year's exchange students from Annecy, France are qualified.

Dan Conlev and Tom Perzynski are careful to prepare for a long experiment in advanced biology.

Bob Pastorek has his hands full with multi-step advanced chemistry experiments.

Yearlong Practice

After a few short weeks of summer practice, the Marching Knights opened football season. Musical shows at half time ranged from the Sound of Music to Slaughter on Tenth Avenue under the leadership of drum majors Gregg Birt and Jerry Jenderjak.

Daily practice continued until Christmas time when the Knights of Sound travelled to the Toledo State Hospital and to Lark Lane School to provide seasonal sounds for the benefit of men, women and children. Under Mr. Edward Zupletal's leadership the band enjoyed making life just a little bit happier for them. The Pep Band had a bouncing basketball season with swinging music at half time.

All the months of practice built to a climax on March 9: the Knights of Sound performed a concert with songs as diverse as By the Time I Get To Phoenix and the 1812 Overture.

Fall Activities Feature Homecoming

Diane Dalton Reigns Over Weekend

An excellently organized Homecoming Weekend began with the traditional dance and the crowning of the queen. Early in August the theme of "Roman Holiday" was selected and the school gym was decorated with Roman pillars, Roman arch, and even a chariot. The dance featured the music of Mr. Zapletal and his orchestra. The climax of the evening came with Fr. Healy's announcement: the Senior Class' third ballot decision was Diane Dalton, Homecoming Queen.

One of the highlights of the rally was a surprise appearance by the Mayor of Toledo, William Ensign. After the singing of our alma mater, the rally moved from inside the gym into the night and spread around the rear of the school. The field had been transformed into an execution site of the French Revolution. As the shining blade fell from the giant, black guillotine, the dummies of Central were decapitated and spirit soared. On Sunday the Knights took to the field to face arch-rival Central. At half time the ceremonies included the honoring of the queen and her escort. But the Knights dropped a 14-13 decision relinquishing their hold on the Irish Knight.

Student Council Decides Major Issues

In any school, the basic driving force behind the many scheduled activities is the Student Council. Devoted to the betterment of St. Francis, it is responsible for the planning and carrying out of the Homecoming festivities, pre-game rallies, the Big Brother program, and the popular weekend hops. The Seniors were determined to have a better, more efficient Student Council than ever before, and under the leadership of President Dave DuMont, they carried out their aim quite well. They began several new and different policies here at school this year including having the entire Senior class vote for the Homecoming Queen for the first time.

They had much to overcome, with lack of organization and procrastination being major problems of past Student Councils. However under the fresh guidance of a new moderator, Fr. Russell, the Student Council started the year off with a successful Homecoming and continued with other projects including the Mission Clothing Drive. With a good year behind them, the Student Council will be looking forward to even more improvements next year.

At one of the general meetings in the library, decisions are made on the questions of hops and rallies.

Student Artists Publicize Events

No sooner was last weekend's rival defeated when the next challenge jumps off the school walls, down from multi-colored signs and into the collective mind of the student body. An athletic activity, or even a social event, deserves to be publicized. posters should go up to boost the spirit of rivalry ready and awaiting notice. The job falls into the hands of the Spirit Committee, a group of students who think they can either draw or handle a paint brush well enough to produce a legible sign.

With no standing list of members, any week may bring in new artists for work on special signs. Fortunately, the whole organization is held together by two seniors with a gift for wit. But as the new week begins, the Spirit Committee gathers to make those invisible qualities of spirit and pride and make them visible. As the paper rolls out and the paint is thinned back to life, the thoughts and feelings in the next weekend are forming.

Designer, Bob Derlatka, and painter, Jim Danahy debate poster ideas.

Without aid from Tom Perzynski and Doug Hojnacki, walls of bright colors would remain unspread across the paper

New Moderator Joins Experienced Staff

Small Staff Goes for Long Hours

A stack of twenty underclassmen pictures fell to the floor and scattered, no one filed the only negative of Fr. Healy and as the dark room swung wide, the picture on the developing paper blackened. For the Accolade staff the best surprises always occur during one of those emergency nights-before-the-deadline. During any photographer's study hall, a little of the turbulence of the publications room invades a classroom. Classroom "hams" take their cue from the bright burst of the flashgun. Sunday afternoons are brightened by the light box under translucent negatives; with the radio blaring in the corner, the core of the staff hears the racing pace of the coming deadline.

Intellectual Activity

Through Faculty and Student Body

Another year is complete for the staff of the Lance. The typewriters are silent, the pens rest unmoving in a drawer, the cameras sit blind on their perches, and the quiet room no longer hears the noise of arguments, suggestions, and double-entendres.

The Lance has had a good year. The early portion of the school term faced the task of training both a new moderator, Fr. James Cryan, and a virtually inexperienced staff. By mid-year the staff's work was excelling with each issue vastly improved over its predecessor. The three-quarter mark in the year showed a superior Literary Edition, and the paper began, once again, to become controversial. The end of the year produced issues that rivaled those of the 67-68 school year. The senior editors were: John Carey, Mike Filipiak, John Kruez, John Peleuses, and Denis Witherell, freshman editor was Mike Rankin.

Editor John Carey scrutinizes the third page before making a fitting decision.

Brisson — Chappuis:

Backbone of

Creativity Fills

The clicking of the dice, the harking of various hawkers, the popping of guns and balloons, cries of happiness and despair over prizes won or lost echo through the gymnasium during the annual St. Francis Funarama. The fathers and mothers of the students organize and run this and other programs of the school through their activity in the Brisson and Chappuis Societies.

The Brisson Society provides an entertaining evening for the parents by bringing in a big name band for the annual Golden Knight Ball. It also sponsors the "Fat Fathers Physical Fitness Program" in which the student can see his father work to sweat off a few ounces which are promptly regained in the weight loss celebration.

The Chappuis Society, with Father Fisher as it's able moderator, gets our mothers into the act by holding a fashion show each year, directed by Father Marran.

Being economically autonomous, with no financial assistance coming from the city, St. Francis depends on these activities for fund raising and thus couldn't survive without them.

Quarterback, Damian Wilkerson, carries out a fake as fullback Tim Irvine scores winning touchdown for City Championship

A slow but strong running backfield with a large seasoned line in front of it showed the city something unexpected of St. Francis teams in the past. The offense opened up with some good results, and a balanced attack helped the Knights take a number of close games. The defense was as strong as usual. It had not only a strong line, but after a few mistakes were corrected it had the best backfield in the city. For its comparative size, the offensive line was hardhitting and quick. Injury plagued the backfield, but our backs, although not fast, drove for every inch. As the season came to its close on Thanksgiving Day, the seniors could look back on a season capped with the "City Championship"

Coach Kubacki has said this is the finest team he has ever coached. An unusual statement from a coach whose team compiled only a 11-8 overall season record. Why? Partly it was because of the team's performance on the court throughout the entire season, but even more so it was his association with a basketball team united with the desire to succeed, the will to win, and the unfortunate of what is called "getting the bad breaks". Bad breaks do not happen, however, they are caused. The 1968-69 Knights realized this, and never showed any signs of defeat in spirit, desire, and hustle.

The outlook for this season looked exceptionally bright to all observers. After seeing considerable action last year, Steve Thomas, Bob Bingle, Jim Connor, and Karl Kovacs would be returning, and they would be backed up by outside shooting of Senior Ed Melvin. Two days after the Football team clinched the City Championship, the roundballers opened theirs by smashing Cardinal Stritch 70-50. A disputed 60-59 overtime loss to Start in the second week of the season was a foreshadowing of what was to come. In the successive weeks the Knights suffered a 53-51 loss to Macomber at the buzzer, and 80-87 overtime loss to Sylvania in the finals of the K.I.T., a narrow 56-54 defeat at the hands of the Number Three team in the state, Libbey, and a 48-45 upset by rival Central.

But the Knights did not lay down and die after these close defeats, they bounced back and after each frustration, matched it with victories over such formidable opponents such as St. John Delphos 67-62, Cleveland East 57-55, Waite 60-55, and rival St. John 68-56. The season ended in the second game of the tournament with a 67-45 drubbing by Sylvania. It was an odd season, it had its hopes, its joys, and its disappointments, but the 1968-69 edition of the fighting Knights was still one of the finest teams ever to come out of St. Francis.

Grapplers Remain State Power

For many years wrestling excellence and St. Francis have been synonymous. This year was no exception. The grapplers extended their unbeaten string to seventy-eight straight dual wins, scoring 310 points while holding eight opponents to only twenty-nine. Nine wrestlers went undefeated in our dual meets.

Tournament-wise, throughout the 1968-69 season the matmen captured their second straight Adrian Invitational title and their sixth straight C.I.T. crown in as many years in the league. Six men Phil Sutton, John Zychowicz, Bob Tscholl, Scot DeNies, Bill Reinbolt, and Bill White were named to the All-City First Team. After winning the Sectional and advancing eight men to the District Tournament, St. Francis took its eighth straight District title, with Phil Sutton and Bob Tscholl the individual winners. In the State Tourney, St. Francis finished in a tie for fifth with twenty-four points. This strong showing was lead by Bill Reinbolt who took a second and John Zychowicz who took a third. Only two of the six men who advanced to the State Tournament are seniors—a promising note for next year's team. But without the efforts of Coach "Doc" Leffler, Assistant Coach, John Flynn, and moderator, Fr. Barkenquest, there could never be an equally great season.

District Title

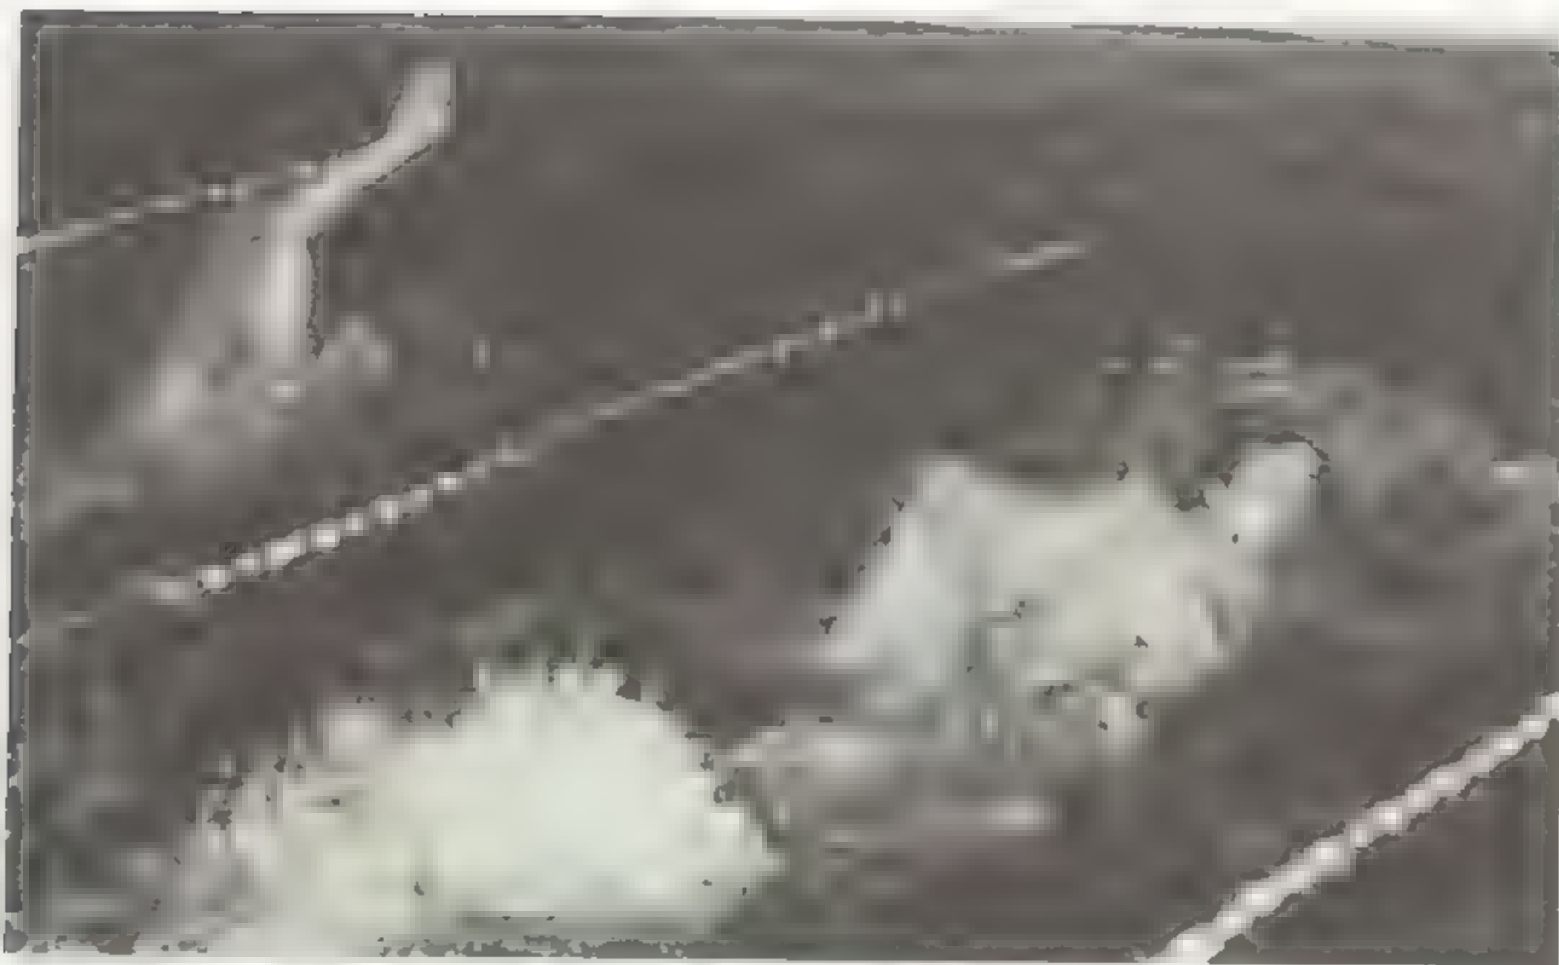

Visions of their own pool drove our swimming team onward to another successful season. The Knights swept by their opponents to an 8-0 dual meet record. St. Francis also grabbed its fourth straight District title and placed an outstanding 3rd in the State Meet. Other highpoints of the season were a tie for 1st in the Meet of Champions and a 3rd place in the Bowling Green relays.

Getting back to the State Meet, the Knights sent nine swimmers down and came home with two state titles. Tom Blank won the 200 yard freestyle with a time of 1:48.8, while Bill Murtagh won the 400 yard freestyle in 3:52.9. Bill also placed second in the 200 yard individual medley and Tom along with John Kolbeck, Ed Szymanski, and Dan Murtagh, took second in the 400 yard freestyle relay. Other fine performances were turned in by Paul Johnson and Dan Murtagh in the 200 yard freestyle finishing ninth and tenth respectively. Paul also took a third place in the 400 yard freestyle. Cliff Ullman placed ninth in the same event. Ed Szymanski placed twelfth in the 50 yard freestyle, while Jeff Pease took a ninth place in the 200 yard individual medley and during the regular season broke the school record in the 100 yard breast stroke with a time of 1:05.4. Chris Hensien became the first Knight ever to qualify for the State Meet this year.

With bad weather again limiting the amount of early season practice, the 1969 tennis team moved indoors and looked to be in fine shape as the season began. Having captured the City League crown again in 1968, St. Francis came to be known as a major power in city tennis. Without a single Senior, the team still did a surprisingly good job of keeping up their reputation. Led by returning letterman and All-City selection Junior Randy Whately, and Juniors Mike Zielinski and Tom Heintschel, the squad turned in fine performances including a win over rival City League opponent Central which helped to boost the team morale. There were disappointing moments also, such as the week which saw four straight matches postponed by the inclement weather. However under the guidance of a new coach, Mr. Ingham, the team kept up the school's winning spirit for the remainder of the season.

A major bright spot in the season was the fine performances turned in by the underclassmen on the squad. Sophomores Steve Dziad, Jeff Pease, Cliff Ulman, and Bill Conlisk, and Freshman Lee Sherry all showed themselves to be ready for more varsity action in the future. With every single player on this year's team returning in 1970, the team and Coach Ingham eagerly look forward to an even more successful season next year.

Randy Whately concentrates on controlling a return to his opponent's disadvantage.

Tom Heintschel rushes the net for a return.

Season Starts With Six Straight Wins

Team Work and Quick

Thinking Pay Off

With the crack of the first line drive the Knights started a great season. They compiled an early season record of 6-0 including 2 City League wins and two tournament wins. Hitting was a big plus, and pitchers Jim Connor, Dave Dumont, and sophomore John Eisinger were superb. Many a time the team pulled itself out of trouble because of fine fielding, quick thinking, and an overall unified team spirit.

After the first six games, Bill Deak led all hitters with a .467 average. Damian Wilkerson had the best fielding average, with only one error in 37 chances. Jim Connor had four of the six wins, and gave up only two earned runs in 25 innings. Coaches Kubacki, Gucciardo and Fr. Landgraff have molded this team of promise.

Senior Class President, Karl Kovacs, was first to receive the coveted class ring from Fr. Healy

Ralph Behrendt contemplates the Ring Day Mass

Sunlight permeated the church which was filled with members of the faculty, anxious seniors and proud mothers. The day was September 20, 1968, a day which was truly momentous in the lives of the members of the Senior Class. On this crisp, autumn day, the seniors received their class rings at St. Pius X Church

The seniors marched in procession into the church accompanied by a senior choir. Joyful music of electric guitars and the rhythms of organ and tambourine prompted participation in the spirit of the Mass. The Ring Day Mass was enlightened by Fr. Barkenquest, who took occasion to expound to all present on the symbolism of the class ring. The moments of anxiety felt by each senior as he rose to walk toward the altar were soon forgotten in the satisfaction of Fr. Healy's personal message as he handed each senior his ring. At that moment every senior realized a dream which represented three years of determination and sacrifice

After the ceremonies at St. Pius X Church, all proceeded to Sylvan Hall for breakfast where festivity reigned, and Karl Kovacs, Fr. Healy and Fr. Fisher expressed the emotions of the day. Ring Day will always be sealed in the heart of every member of the Class of 1969

The Memories of Four Years

Yield to the Challenge of the Future

Solemn faculty leads the way.

This day of ceremonies marks the close of the seniors' period of learning here at St. Francis, and for some, it's the last time they'll see the school. Fond memories of both amusing and serious times are fresh in their minds, but the seniors must not dwell in the past, because this day also marks their entrance into the world of the collegiate.

The students aren't the only ones who are exuberant and pleased with themselves. Their teachers are proud of the results of their time and effort spent in helping the boys with their studies. They feel certain that the members of the class of '69 are well-prepared for the furthering of their education in school and in their careers.

When everyone was finally assembled in the Penistyle and the various speeches were given, the seniors whose names were first in the alphabet shifted restlessly in their seats, waiting for the rest to get their diplomas, in anxious anticipation of the events yet to come that night.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The staff of the 1969 Accolade wishes to express its gratitude to the Toledo Blade and Wide World Photo for helping fulfill our photographic needs professionally; to the team coaches and moderators and Athletic Director Mr. Casey for their cooperation; to the unnamed Seniors who filled in the Saturday afternoon gaps in the regular staff; and to Mr. and Mrs. Sapruniewicz and Russ Whithead of Modern Yearbook Company for their invaluable assistance in getting this book completed.

The flux of the years events carried everyone into its current, whether in small or large degree. This book was dedicated to those constructive Christian activities, and its aim was to mirror them in picture and print. Paul Simon seemed to be saying of this Accolade

Long ago it must be,
I have a photograph.
Preserve your memories
They're all that's left you.
